Peasant Dress pattern from janelwashere.com

Half-inch seams allowed throughout

Ruffle piece is cut 12" by 44" (width of fabric)

Cut three or four of ruffle pieces

Sew sleeves to the front and back pieces.

Use self bias tape for neckline casing.

Sew two skirt pieces together to form a skirt back and cut one skirt piece on the fold for the front, adding in triangles to fill in the corners (because it's wider than 45" fabric folded in half).

I like to wait with the side seams until last so the ruffle gathering is in two flat parts.

Check bodice length by holding up to your body.

Sew skirt front to bodice front and skirt back to bodice back. Either make the top overhang by an inch or so in order to fold over as a casing for the waist elastic, or use a separate strip of fabric to form the casing.

Sew two ruffle pieces together, gather and sew to skirt front, and repeat for skirt back.

Fold over sleeve ends for elastic casing and sew most of the length but not the ends.

Sew down the entire side starting at the sleeve, under the arms, down the bodice and skirt to the bottom of the ruffle.

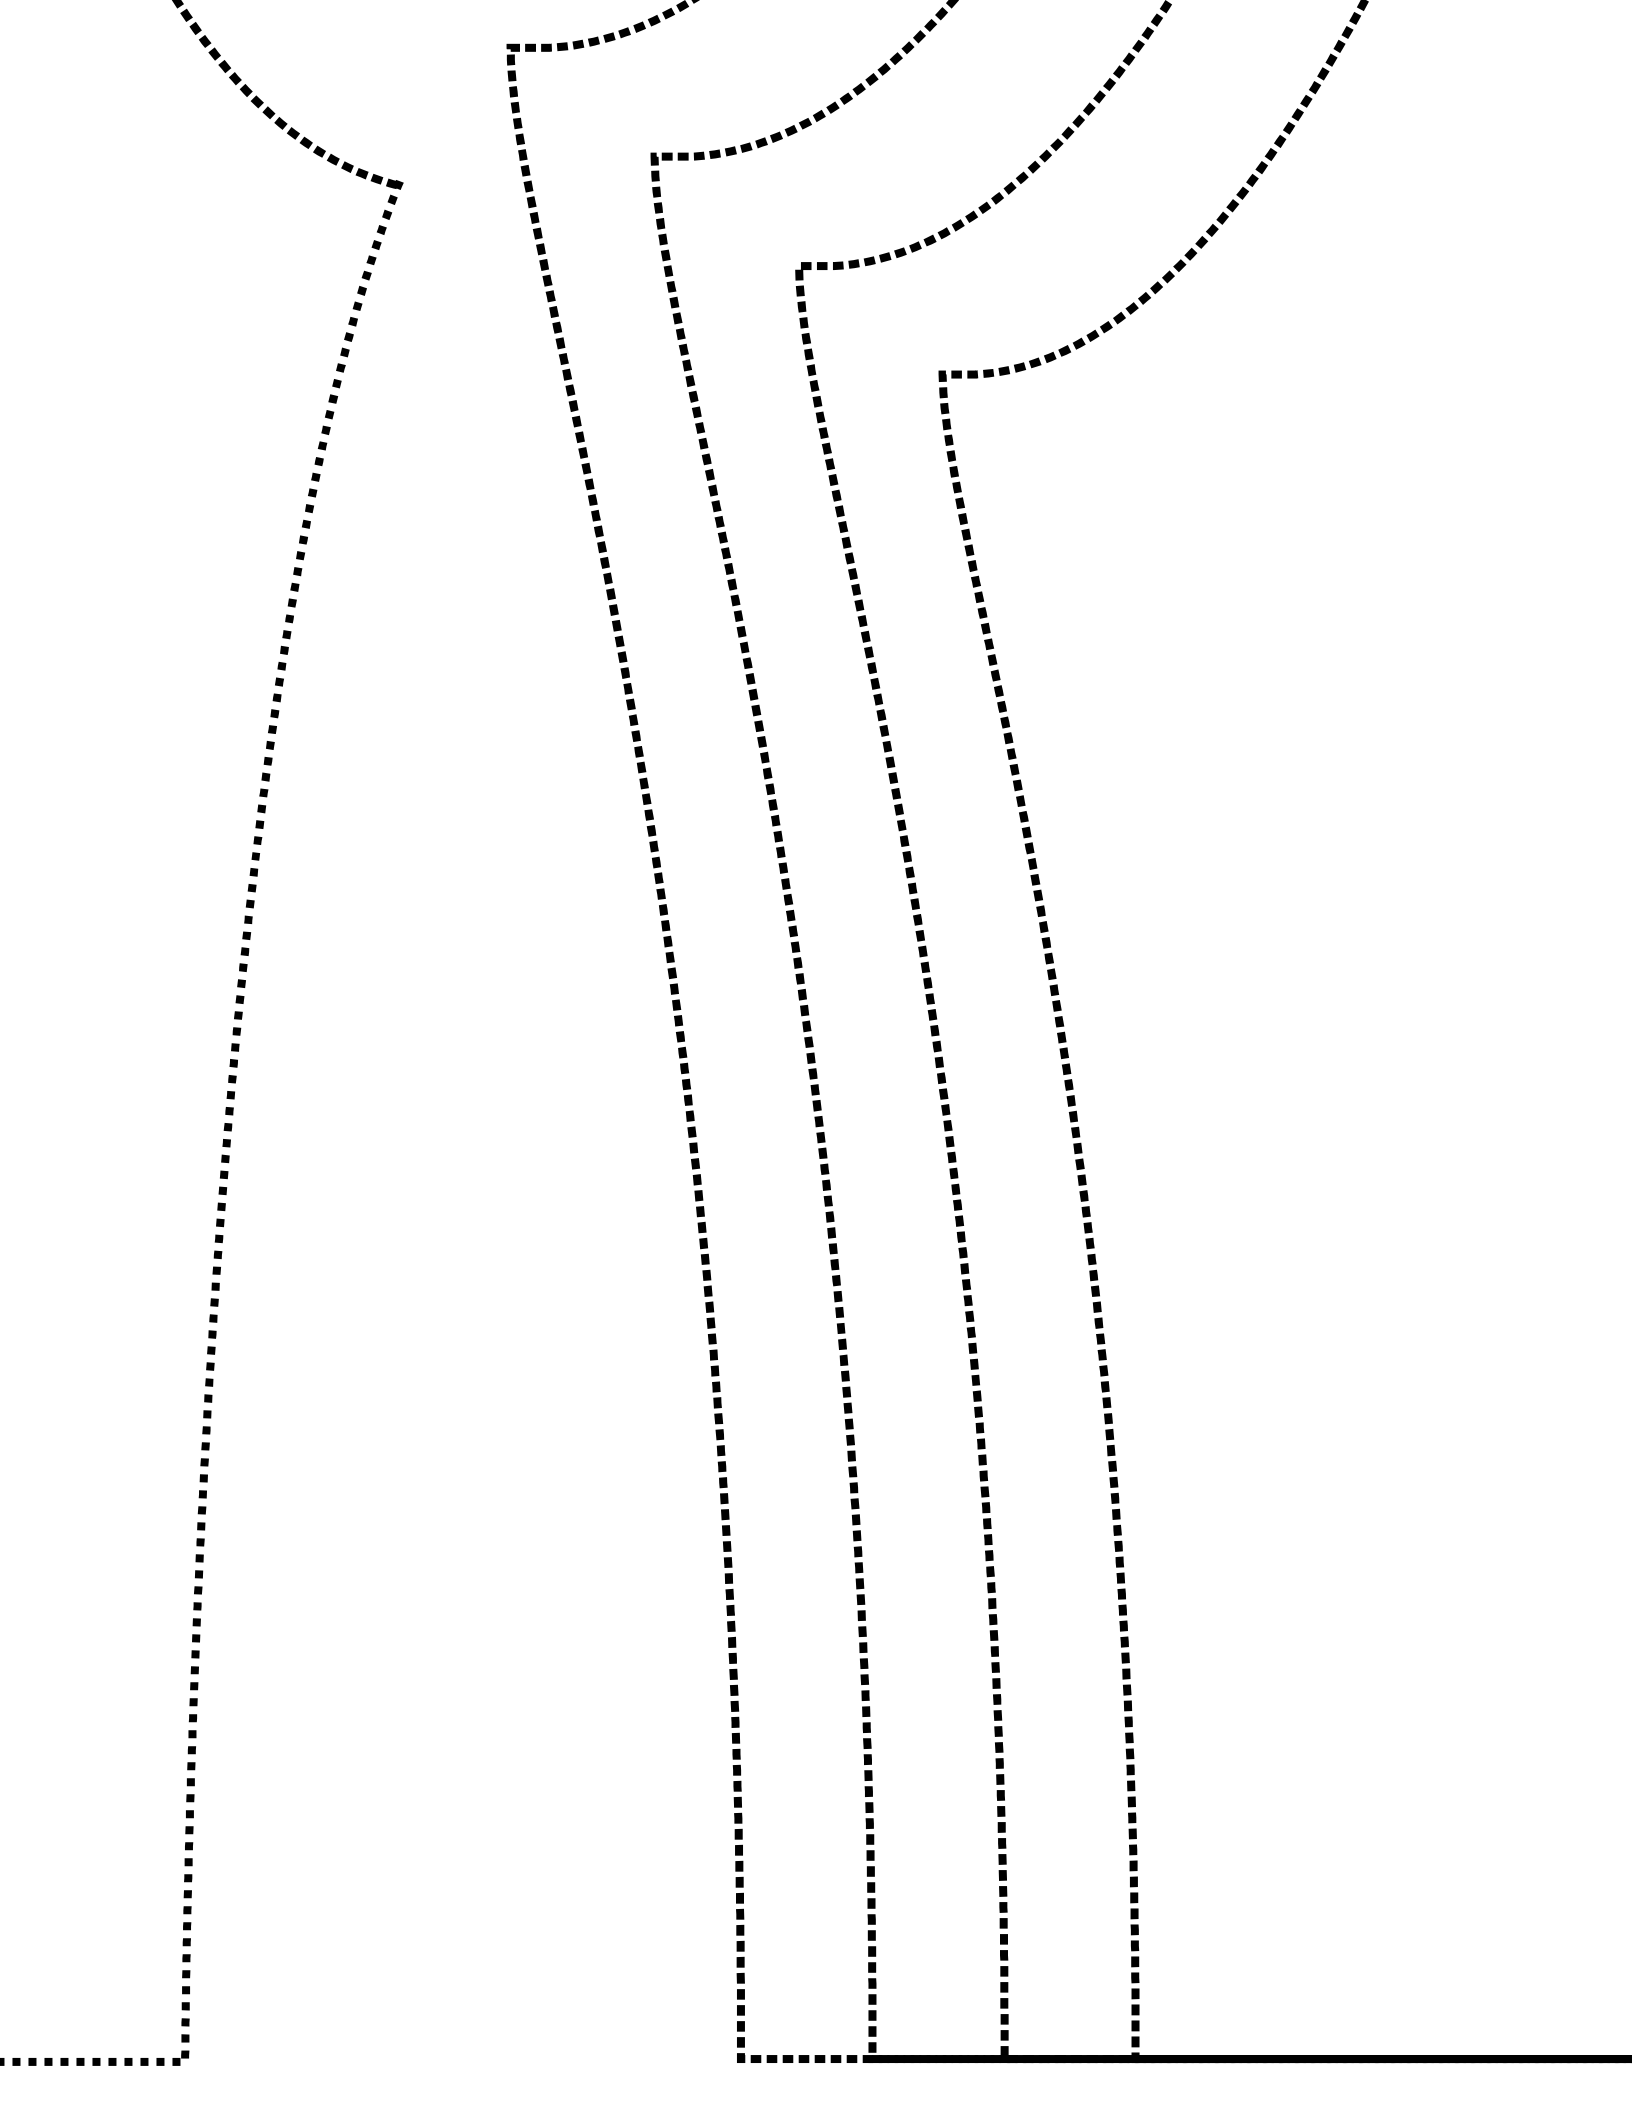

Finish the sleeve casing and put in the elastic.

Hem the ruffle.
